INTRODUCTORY.

IT is with no ordinary pleasure that we issue this edition of the CAMBRIDGE CITY DIRECTORY for 1891. No. 40 in the regular series. We have honestly endeavored to produce such a book as shall meet the reasonable demands and expectations of those for whom it is intended. It would be presumption on our part to assert that it is free from errors and imperfections; we can only affirm that we have faithfully tried to reduce such defects to the minimum. We shall be grateful for any suggestions, from whatever source, that will help to make our Annual Directory more useful to our patrons.

We take this opportunity to tender our personal congratulations to the people of the no mean city on the Charles at the invaluable improvements in its public edifices recently effected through the munificence of Mr. Rindge. Not many cities can boast of such buildings as the new City Hall, the Public Library, the High School, approaching completion, and the Manual Training School. Especially gratifying must be the avoidance to the city of the dreaded burden of the support of the last named institution, by the recent offer of its generous-hearted founder to take upon himself its financial management for the present. With such benefactions and the opening of the Harvard bridge, too long delayed—why should Cambridge people not be happy?

In conclusion we express our thanks to all who have aided us in the compilation of the present edition.

Instructions to Key Holders.

Alarms to be given from the box nearest the location of the fire.

Do not give an alarm for a fire seen at a distance, unless assistance is called for.

To give an alarm, open the door, pull the hook to the bottom of the slot once, and let go. Each box contains a small bell, which, if heard before you pull, indicates that an alarm has been previously given, and by listening at the box, you will learn the number of the box, from which the alarm was given, but in no case will you pull the box while the alarm is striking. After giving the alarm, remain at the box, so as to direct the firemen to the fire. Be sure that you lock the box before leaving it.

Citizens are requested to inform themselves where keys to the signal boxes are kept, signs suitably inscribed being placed over each box, giving the requisite information.

Instructions to Firemen.

First alarm will be given by striking three or more rounds.

Second alarm will be given by repeating the first.

General alarm will be given by striking three blows on the gongs and bells.

In cases where hook and ladder companies only are wanted, the call will be given by striking five blows.

Companies not required to respond to first or second alarms will be notified of the extinguishment of a fire by two blows on the gongs, that their services will not be needed, and that orders have been given to "make up." Should an alarm be given from any box while a portion of the department is engaged at a fire, the apparatus not in service will respond.
